Getting Started With Food Donors

GET EDUCATED

1. Learn the Bill Emerson Good Samaritan Act
2. Use ReFED's policy guide to understand your state policies around food donations
 - ◆ <https://policyfinder.refed.org>
3. Understand food safety & get food safety certified

Bill Emerson Good Samaritan Food Donation Act of 1996

federally protects individuals* from civil and criminal liability when donating and distributing food to nonprofits as long as the donation of apparently wholesome food was done in good faith.

*On January 5, 2023, Public Law No: 117-362 expanded liability protections to include donations given by a nonprofit organization to needy individuals at a good Samaritan reduced price (or less).

WHAT'S THEIR WHY?

- Is it community-orientated? Sustainability focused? Financially motivated?

Play into their internal sustainability and environmental goals

- Show them how food rescue will help with these goals!
- Be a part of their sustainability team

Fighting Food Waste

Learn about our programs and partnerships that minimize food waste in our stores and nourish communities in need.

MAKE IT SIMPLE

Donors will be more likely to donate if it's simple for them!

- Meet them where they're at, as best you can
 - ◆ Work with their availability
 - ◆ Make sure you're not adding work for them
- Make sure your volunteers follow the process to a tee
 - ◆ Address any hiccups quickly to maintain donors' trust in the process

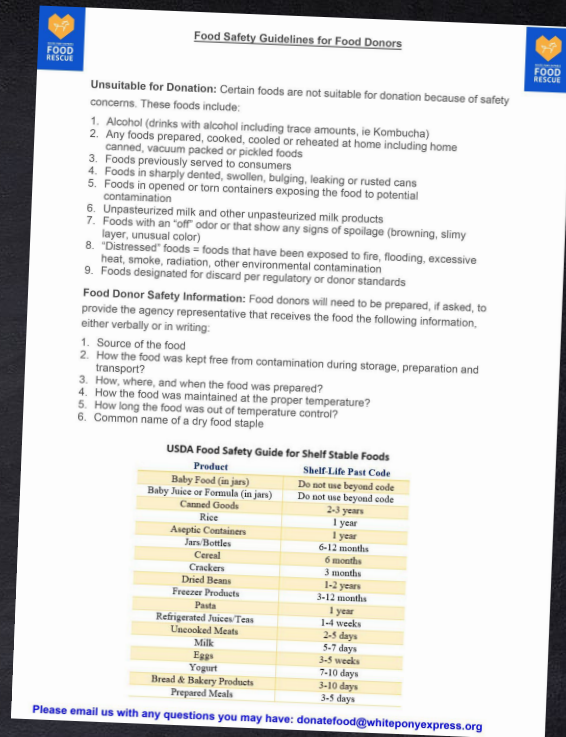

GET ORGANIZED

Create standards and guidelines for donors:

- Food Safety Guidelines
- Packaging Guidelines
- Contact Cards on who to call for what!
- Memorandums of Understanding

MAKE YOUR ONBOARDING PACKETS ALL-ENCOMPASSING!

START SMALL

There is no need to rush and try to catch the biggest fish immediately!

- Hone your skills with the smaller pickups
 - ◆ Bakeries are a great starting place
 - ◆ Pilot a rescue with one store store, not the entire chain

BE THE "AND", NOT THE "OR"

If there are already other organizations picking up at a food donor, determine how you can support (not take) from this process!

- There are usually more days than the other org can take! Be flexible in your pick-ups so you can help meet this need.
- Ask if there are specific food types that are still being thrown away and are available to be rescued
- Offer to adopt the logistics and transportation for partners who are picking up themselves. Ensure them that you want to keep the rescue intact and only make their lives easier

CULTIVATE INTERNAL CHAMPIONS

- Develop multiple Food Rescue Champions
- Aim for sustainability with rescues
- Turnover rates at food donors can be high, so make sure you get buy in from a majority of the team!

Give gratitude + appreciation

- Send reports as requested
- Create blogs showing the movement of food from them to the recipient
- Use social media to shout them out
- Provide gifts like swag or treats
- Invite them to the events to celebrate the work they're doing!

giant eagle

Preventing perfectly good food from going to waste.

In partnership with Giant Eagle, we've built the largest volunteer-led food rescue network in the Pittsburgh area.

Thanks to our collaboration with Giant Eagle, along with thousands of dedicated volunteers, we are able to rescue perfectly good food that would otherwise go to waste. In the last 9 years, this food has been delivered to over 400 different community partners to be redistributed.

Through our ongoing partnership, we're helping to reduce food waste while providing critical support to our community.

Through Giant Eagles and Community Partners help:
